

Where are the battery wholesalers in China and Africa

Is Africa the only battery producer in the world?

But Europe is not the only player in the space: American and Asian automakers like Tesla and Toyota are building battery gigafactories in a bid to dominate the electric vehicle battery market. Yet, one region is absent in the global battery production race. As the key producer of battery minerals, Africa is a lynchpin in battery supply chains.

Does China have a strong battery supply chain?

China has established a strong foothold in the battery supply chain through its extensive control over global mineral resources, securing significant stakes in cobalt mines in Africa and lithium sources in Latin America. However, China's ambitions go beyond control over raw materials.

Which countries dominate the lithium-ion battery supply chain?

Now, let's take a look at the top 10 countries at the ranking. China remains top of the global lithium-ion battery supply chain ranking for three consecutive years, and will continue to dominate the supply chain through 2027, said the BloombergNEF, a research provider covering the global commodity market, on Nov 12.

How can Chinese companies repurpose used batteries?

Chinese companies like CATL and GEM Co, Ltd have taken the lead in the battery recycling market, using advanced technologies to maximize the reuse rate of critical materials. These companies employ cutting-edge extraction methods to reclaim valuable components from used batteries, which can then be reintegrated into the production cycle.

Global battery demand is projected to reach 7.8 TWh by 2035, with China, the US, and Europe representing 80%; Lithium-ion is ~80% of the demand. In Africa, majority of demand will come from electric two/three-wheelers and stationary battery energy storage systems (BESS) with ~3 GWh and ~4GWh of additional annual demand respectively by 2030.

Where are the battery wholesalers in China and Africa

According to BloombergNEF, China currently hosts 75 percent of all battery cell manufacturing capacity and 90 percent of anode and electrolyte production. The increasing prices of lithium has also led to higher investments in carbonate and hydroxide refinery facilities in the country, making it the leading refiner of battery metals globally.
